THE NEWSLETTER OF THE EARLY SLAVIC STUDIES ASSOCIATION

Vol. 18, No. 2 (October 2005) http://clover.slavic.pitt.edu/~essa/index.html

Message from the President

Greetings, ESSA Members,

The AAASS and ESSA meetings, scheduled for early November this year in Salt Lake City, are rapidly approaching. Once again, the AAASS program includes a variety of panels and workshops, in which ESSA members are participating, and other sessions that will be of interest to us all.

Please plan to attend the ESSA business meeting, which will be held on Friday, November 4, session 5 (2:15 - 4:15 p.m.) in the Sun Valley Room at the Little America hotel. Our agenda includes the election of officers as well as the presentation of the Second Annual Distinguished Scholarly Publication Award. We also plan to have discussions about the ESSA web page and the ESSA-sponsored panel at AAASS meetings.

The annual ESSA dinner for members and friends of the association is scheduled for the evening of Friday, November 4. More detailed information about the dinner may be found in this newsletter as well as on the ESSA web page. Announcements about the dinner and how to get from the hotels to the restaurant will also be made at our business meeting.

I look forward to seeing many of you in Salt Lake City, but let me take this opportunity to thank you all for the opportunity to have served you as president of ESSA. I would like to thank particularly my fellow officers and all those who have served on the awards and nominating committees and have otherwise contributed so productively to ESSA during the past two years.

Respectfully,
Janet Martin
President

ESSA Dinner at Vienna Bistro on Friday, November 4

The annual ESSA dinner will take place at the Vienna Bistro on Friday, November 4, 2005. The owner, who is from Salzburg, is offering us a special menu. We will have our choice of a beef (probably an excellent goulash) or chicken dish. Vegetarians can also be accommodated. The charge for the dinner, which includes salad and dessert, will be $16 per person. Drinks are extra.

The restaurant is conveniently located on the TRAX system -- straight up the street and two stops from the hotel. It possible to walk, but be warned that the road is uphill and the air is a lot thinner than at sea level. More specific directions will be given at the ESSA business meeting (November 4 at 2:15-4:15, Sun Valley Room at the Little America hotel).

It is not necessary to RSVP, but it would be helpful to get a rough idea of how many people will be attending the dinner. Please contact our vice-president David Miller (dbmjjm@rcn.com) or secretary-treasurer Isolde Thyrêt (ithyret@kent.edu) to let them know if you are planning to attend.

Many thanks to Isolde for arranging the dinner this year!

Visual Resources for Teaching and Research in Early East Slavic Cultures
A Summer Institute Sponsored by The National Endowment for the Humanities
Saturday, June 17–Thursday, June 29, 2006

The New York Public Library (NYPL) invites competitive applications for a Summer Institute for 20 undergraduate teaching faculty, librarians/bibliographers, and museum curators in the arts and humanities. Participants will analyze, interpret, contextualize, and "deconstruct" the early corpus of East Slavic visual images collected at the NYPL over more than a century and a half.

Institute Director Edward Kasinec, Curator of NYPL's Slavic and Baltic Division, and Faculty Advisor Professor Valerie Kivelson of the University of Michigan will moderate a series of daily forums with more than a dozen prominent guest lecturers and discussion facilitators drawn from the academic, museum, library, and art historical communities, followed by afternoon practicums at the Library and at several other New York cultural institutions.

Successful applicants will receive NEH stipends in the amount of $1,800 to help defray housing, travel, and other expenses. The Institute will endeavor to assist in locating local housing for those who require it.

Requests for further information should be directed (after October 15) to:

Medieval Slavic Summer Institute
The Ohio State University
June 25-July 22, 2006

The Hilandar Research Library (HRL)/Resource Center for Medieval Slavic Studies (RCMSS) and the Department of Slavic and East European Languages and Literatures (DSEELL) at The Ohio State University will host a four-week intensive Summer Institute for qualified graduate students in Columbus, Ohio, June 25-July 22, 2006. The Medieval Slavic Summer Institute (MSSI) will offer: Practical Slavic Palaeography (Slavic 870) and Readings in Church Slavonic (Slavic 812). All lectures will be in English. Manuscript material on microform from the Hilandar Research Library's extensive holdings forms a large part of the lectures and exercises. Participants will also have the opportunity to work with original manuscripts and to conduct their own individualized research in the HRL. Also planned is a program of lectures on related topics and other activities.

Applicants must be graduate students with a B.A. degree and with a reading knowledge of Cyrillic and of at least one Slavic language. Preference will be given to applicants with reading knowledge of Old Church Slavonic or some other pre-modern Slavic language.

The Hilandar Research Library, the largest repository of medieval Slavic Cyrillic texts on microform in the world, includes the holdings from over 100 monastic, private, museum, and library collections of twenty-one countries. There are over 5,000 Cyrillic manuscripts on microform in the HRL (more than a million pages), as well as over 700 Cyrillic early printed books from prior to 1800 on microform (more than half a million pages). The holdings range from the eleventh to twentieth centuries, with a particularly strong collection of manuscripts from the fourteenth to sixteenth centuries. About half of the manuscripts are East Slavic, with much of the remainder South Slavic in provenience.

For further information about the HRL/RCMSS, visit its website at http://cmrs.osu.edu/rcmss/ - see issues of the HRL/RCMSS newsletter, Cyrillic Manuscript Heritage, on the HRL/RCMSS website for an account of MSSI 1999 (issue #6), MSSI 2001 (issue #10), and MSSI 2003 (issue #14). The OSU Slavic Department website address is http://slavic.osu.edu/.

For further information on eligibility, credit, housing, financial aid, and to obtain an application to the MSSI, please contact the HRL/RCMSS at hilandar@osu.edu or Hilandar Research Library and Resource Center for Medieval Slavic Studies, 225/227 OSU Main Library, 1858 Neil Avenue Mall, Columbus, Ohio 43210-1286.

Deadline for receipt of application: 1 March 2006.

● Alexander Bobrov (Institute of Russian Literature – RAN) has published: “Problema podlinnosti "Slova o polku Igoreve" i Efrosin Belozerskij.” Acta Slavica Iaponia 22. (2005), 238-98.

Miscellany — Избьрано

● A book review of Simon Franklin and Emma Widdis, eds. National Identity in Russian Culture: An Introduction by Oleh S. Ilnytzkyj was published in the March-June 2005 issue of Canadian Slavonic Papers.
● Following up on the successful Summer 2004 archaeological-historical trip to Russia, Roman K. Kovalev of The College of New Jersey once again traveled to Novgorod during the months of July-August 2005 with eight of his students to excavate twelfth-century layers of the city. Aside from excavating in Novgorod, students also visited and examined the archaeological excavations in Staraia Ladoga, Riurikovo gorodishche, and Staraia Russa. This was the second of annual-planned trips to Russia by an American group of students to work in medieval Novgorod.
● There are multiple opportunities for support available from the American Councils for International Education (ACTR/ACCELS). Their website can be referenced for more information on specific grants for work on Eastern and Southeastern Europe and Eurasia. www.americancouncils.org
